The plan for so many more houses going to Leixlip is outrageous because:

* No infrastructure to handle it, sort that out first, then look at the numbers of houses that can be accommodated.

* Water regularly goes off, cannot handle the demand. Where will that leave us between the new plans for Intel and Leixlip?

* Electricity supply regularly interrupted and under pressure.

* Leixlip is under pressure as a whole - the population is so high that it's very difficult to even get a GP appt when you need one.

* The traffic is terrible, it's so horrendous trying to get down the hill and onto the N4 in the mornings.

How will this be handled with all the extra traffic for Intel and the new houses?

* St Catherine's Park is the best amenity we have in the area. Leave it untouched. No roads, no bridges, no air pollution, no noise. We're always encouraged to get out and use local amenities for our physical and mental health and now that is jeopardised too.

* The plans for Leixlip are unrealistic and show no concern for the population already living there which is already under pressure. Adding huge amount of houses in an area with over-crowded schools, over-subscribed GP surgeries and an under resourced garda station will increase crime in an area that is already seeing an increase in antisocial behaviour and crime in general.

This whole plan for Leixlip needs to be looked at with fresh eyes, by people who think a lot more cleverly than the people who have already worked on it. It's a narrow minded plan which neglects to see the real issues in the area and doesn't give any regard at all to the people living in the area.
