I Robert Smith object to the proposed planning of residential houses at the black avenue site in leixlip. There are protected species of bats that roam the space at this area.(Please see the Republic of Ireland wildlife act 1976) This is also not in the best interest of leixlip or exisiting residents to develop housing at a rapid and large scale to meet the national interests. The draft plan does not reflect or acknowledge the complexity of the size of leixlip lying in such close proximity and sharing the same road network and public transportation with other towns.
