Item number 7 – Question Councillor Durkan

Can the council confirm what plans can or will be put in place for the hospitality industry to facilitate on street tables and chairs to comply with social distancing measures in preparation for businesses reopening once government restrictions are lifted?

Item number 16 – Question Councillor Feeney

Can the council confirm if it has considered supporting local cafés and restaurants by allowing them, as a temporary measure, to make appropriate use of public squares to accommodate customers within current restrictions and guidelines, given the ongoing challenges due to COVID-19?

A report was received from the District Manager and the District Engineer informing the members that numerous queries and representations had been received from elected members and the public in relation to this matter. Essentially it was a licencing matter and would have to be considered on a case by case basis by the Planning & Roads Departments.

Businesses who were looking for permission to use the public footpath/public space should fill out a Section 254 licence application. Kildare County Council were prepared to waive the Section 254 fee considering the current Covid-19 context.

The licence application would be lodged with the Planning Department and then sent to the Municipal Engineer who had confirmed he would consider each application on its own merits and as long as it was accompanied by the required insurance and drawings showing what was proposed, he would endeavour to make a prompt decision. The Municipal District Engineer had compiled some further guidance in completing the Section 254 application form which would be made available to the elected members and the business community also.

If the application was for a semi-permanent or permanent structure, there may be a need for planning permission which would have to be considered by the Planning Department.

Kildare County Council was very anxious to support the business community during this exceptionally difficult time; however, the council also have to consider public safety and ensure that each proposal that comes in does not interfere with the free flow of pedestrian traffic and does not represent a hazard for those using the footpaths.

The District Engineer informed the members that this was on a trial basis to the 01 of September.

The report was noted.

He informed the members of potential zoning conflicts and layout and urban design issues.

Mr Lynch outlined the timelines and next steps and stated that the purpose of presentation was to seek the members views in relation to the proposed development.

The members raised the following concerns:

- Sufficient number of parking spaces
- Objection to 5 storeys – too high
- Objection to vehicular entrance through Brayton Park

- Creche and school space
- General lack of infrastructure

Mr Lynch made the following points:

- 650 car parking space were to be provided
- The set back from the motorway is 92 metres
- Density is within standard guidelines however regard should be given to the location – the distance from the centre of the site to the train station is 1km
- The council had no input in the increase of number of properties being sought from pre-planning stage to application stage
- Open spaces on the balcony is part of private open space and does not contribute to public open spaces
- Accuracy of drawings may affect validity of application. This is a matter for An Bord Pleanála
- Creche is shown in Phase one and therefore must be taken that it will be provided in phase one

In relation to the applicants whose project was unlikely/unsuitable to proceed due to Covid-19, the members stated that these grants should still be paid to cover costs that may have already been incurred in preparation for events that had to be cancelled or to prepare for future events and that all valid applications should be assessed.

The District Manager stated that the Community Department could revert to these groups and that confirmation would have to be provided that money was spent on materials.
